Romance times seven — choir's dinner theatre '98

Elk Point's biggest wedding ever wowed five capacity crowds the past two weekends, as Elk Point Community Choir and Friends presented "Seven Brides for Seven Brothers" at their 1998 dinner theatre series.

The lighthearted musical tells the story of mountain man Adam Pontipee and his six alphabetically-named younger brothers, who have tired of their womanless existence. The brothers send Adam (Don Conrad) off to town to find a wife. The storekeeper and the preacher tell him all the local ladies are spoken for, but he doesn't plan to go home empty handed. He spies the fair Milly (Dixie Coleman) waiting on a passel of belching, bottom-punching louts in the local cafe and decides to take her away from all this. After three years of courting packed into five minutes on his part, and dire predictions by her friends (Michelle Friesen, Rae Michaud, Romy Rohner, Kelsey Mueller, Mary Easthope and Krymsen Coleman), Milly and Adam are married and off to their new life together.

*"Three years worth of courtin'
in five minutes"*

Milly finds her new home needs some serious "reddin' up" — and so do Adam's brothers — Benjamin (Udo Mueller), Caleb (Don Buryn), Daniel (Gary Townsend), Ephraim (Shaun Sheplaw), Frank (Neil Salisbury) and Gideon (Shane Rebryna). However, they volunteer to shoot something for dinner, which is more than the new groom offered to do. This hired-girl existence wasn't quite what Milly had bargained for, but she is ready to stick to her vows, and will work along side her new husband. She isn't quite ready to sleep alongside him, however, and sends him to roost on the shed roof, but relents when he vows he really does care.

Come morning, everything is spic and span when the longjohned brothers awake and find their clothes already washed and on the line — and now their new sister-in-law wants to wash their woolies! But it will take more than clean laundry to get these boys fit to go courting, and eventually out of the house. Milly coaches them in manners, since theirs leave "some to be desired," and even gives some dancing lessons to the blanket-wrapped bozos. Soon, she has them all so slicked-up their big brother thinks they "look like town-folk!"

Then they are off to town to the monthly social, where the town boys (Adam Pigeon, Dwayne Sheplaw, Levi May,

Elk Point hosts St. Paul Education Division annual meeting

The newly modernized F. G. Miller High School was "a most appropriate venue" for the 1998 Annual Meeting of the St. Paul Education Regional Division No. 1, according to Board chairman Conrad Richard, who told in excess of 50 people on hand for the meeting that the bulk of the school's renovations are now complete, and the results are "certainly functional."

Richard introduced fellow board members Terry Laboucane, Ed Sosnowski, Gerald Olynyk, Lorne Buryn and Ray Danyluk, and said the board has developed an environment for learning that is driven by success. He thanked all in attendance for their expression of "genuine concern for the welfare of our students."

Local board trustee Ray Danyluk said the Board is now rotating their meetings "so people can see what is happening in the rest of the division." F. G. Miller's new look is the result of "a joint effort between the trustees, the Department of Education and the parents," he noted. He outlined the changes made throughout the school, and later led visitors on a tour of the school for a first-hand look at the renovations.

Carmen Brodziak gave the Superintendent's Annual Report, and commented on the excellent parent support. Last year, only 16 members of the public attended the annual meeting. She reported that 1996-97 was "a very busy year, with a lot of curriculum changes. It was very challenging." A number of professional development activities helped keep staff abreast of the changes and helped them to meet the needs of both regular and special needs students. St. Paul's teen parent project and the introduction of school liaison workers into St. Paul town schools were new developments funded in part by the Commission for the Provision of Children's Services. Many changes were made in technology, including networking computers and hooking into the Internet.

Three year plans, mandated by Alberta Education, mean the schools and the school district have to change their goals, Brodziak said, and "the annual reports are very time consuming." School-based decision making was studied at a workshop, but "we decided to stay as is, for now." One challenge is to find time "to get to the serious business of programming for children."

Secretary-treasurer Jean Champagne explained the yearly financial statements, which have undergone "significant accounting changes," with amortization now incorporated and capital assets depreciated annually. School-generated funds have also been added to the statement, and Champagne noted that "over $600,000 has flowed through"

Oldest citizen laid to rest

Elk Point's oldest citizen, Grace Franks, was laid to rest yesterday. Mrs. Franks, who came to the Clandonald area from England as a young woman, passed away Thursday at the age of 102.

The eldest daughter of Thomas and Eleanor Kinch, she married Frank Franks in 1991 and moved to "Hardscrabble Farm" near Frog Lake. Mr. Franks passed away in 1961. "Auntie Grace" moved to Elk Point in 1977, living at Buckingham House, Heritage Lodge and most lately at Parkview Extended Care, where she celebrated her 102nd birthday last December. She is survived by one sister, Mabel Dumont, a sister-in-law, Jean Kinch, and numerous nephews and nieces.

REACH ready to meet expanding needs

Entrepreneurs in Elk Point no longer have to travel to St. Paul for assistance from the REACH Corporation. A REACH representative will be in the Elk Point Town Office every Wednesday from 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. beginning April 15.

REACH, a Community Futures Corporation, serves residents in the St. Paul and Smoky Lake Counties region by providing small business loans, marketing counsel, business management assistance, and by coordinating community and economic development projects in the region.

"The economy in Elk Point has been very active since the recent boom in the area," says REACH board chairman Randy Brodziak. "We recognized the business community's expanding needs and saw an opportunity to move in and make it easier for them to access the services REACH offers." Brodziak says the move is a huge benefit to small business operators and aspiring entrepreneurs in and around Elk Point. "Our organization has a diverse range of expertise," adds Brodziak. "We have trained and experienced professionals who are eager to help clients in any way they can."

REACH helps remove many of the barriers facing existing small business operators and helps new business owners make the transition from employee to employer.

"When you run your own business you become a manager, sales executive, marketing professional and accountant all at once," says Brodziak, who operates his own business in St. Paul. "It's sometimes overwhelming to try and learn all of these skills. When you have a resource like REACH to provide guidance in these areas, it makes your job easier."

REACH can provide general loans up to $75,000 to entrepreneurs with a viable business concept, and also has repayable loan monies available under special youth and disabled entrepreneur programs.

"We don't simply provide services, we provide opportunities," adds Brodziak. "Our goal is to not only assist individuals who come to us for help with their business venture, but also to identify economic and community development opportunities that will benefit the region."

REACH is a Community Futures Corporation funded in part by Western Economic Diversification. It is governed under the direction of a board consisting of appointees from the local municipalities for the benefit of residents in the St. Paul and Smoky Lake Counties region.

New community channel equipment has arrived

By Deanna Easthope
FCSS Director

It happened in June of 1997 that the Community Channel with local information went off the air. We tried to have it fixed, but the equipment was old and parts were too hard to find. So, after a long wait to the community, Regional Cable has put new equipment which includes a new updated program into the FCSS Office. Boy, are we excited! Like all changes, we ask your patience as we learn the new program.

What this means is that if you are a "non profit" individual or group and you have an announcement to make which promotes a service or provides information to the community, give our office a call with the details. We would appreciate it if you would see that we receive all information before

9:30 a.m. Monday morning. You may do this either by phone (724-3800) or fax (724-4303) or stop by our office at 4902-51 Street between the hours of 9:30 a.m. and 3:00 p.m. Monday to Friday. (Or, if you prefer landmarks... we are located in the old building south of the Elks Hall.)

Isn't this something! All the ways we have available to us in the '90s to inform everyone. Boy, have we come a long way. After pony express, people thought the telegraph was an exciting invention. Now, people can learn of local community events by watching it on their television sets. They just have to turn the Community Channel on. Of course, they can also read about community events and happenings in the local Elk Point Review. Mind you, it is like anything else, the people who plan local events and happenings will have to inform us first — right!

Informing people of information reminds me of the following poem by an unknown person.

*He who knows not and knows not that he knows not
Is a fool — shun him.*

*He who knows not and knows that he knows not
Is simple — teach him.*

*He who knows and knows not that he knows
Is asleep — awaken him.*

*He who knows and knows that he knows
Is wise — follow him.*

Therefore, as it can be said, if you have community events and happenings you are planning, let us know so that we all can be "wise" and have others "follow."

In conclusion, I like the statement by Leon Gutterman. He said: "To lack wisdom is no disgrace. To lack the desire for wisdom is a pity. But to desire wisdom and not know how to find it is a tragedy." So, to everyone in Elk Point, look at the Community Channel when you need to find out information about community events and happenings. (And read the Elk Point Review.)

Letter to the Editor

To the Editor:

I recently relocated to the area from Ontario. After having lived in the metropolitan city of Toronto, I no longer carry cash on me. Interac banking is my main form of payment.

Upon making a purchase of less than five dollars, I was charged a 25 cent fee. According to the store clerk, an article in the Edmonton Journal about the cost to merchants of Interac purchases less than five dollars prompted the fee.

My bank is currently charging me a monthly service fee plus one dollar for every Interac use not on their system. Meaning my purchase of $1.99 now cost me $3.24.

The bad news for merchants is that according to Canada Trust and the Interac Association, they can't charge us extra to use our bank cards. Merchants actually sign a contract with Interac not to 'tax' customers for using Interac as a method of payment.

So, if you are tired of paying more, call Fred Harris of the Interac Association at (416) 362-8550.

Spring ice — hidden dangers

By the Lifesaving Society
Review contributors

The warm spring weather is rapidly melting snow across Alberta. Meanwhile, the ice on many lakes and rivers may still appear unchanged. In many cases, melting snow has run onto the ice and refrozen.

Spring ice is an attractive trap for Albertans thawing out after a long winter. While it may appear thick and hard enough to support someone, spring ice is unsafe at any thickness. The effects of warm temperatures, increasing sun exposure, melting snow and runoff combine to weaken the ice. It is impossible to safely assess the risk of venturing out on the ice. In spring, the only safe ice is in the local indoor arena.

Longer days, warmer weather and running water near lakes and streams attract children to play on or near the ice. The Lifesaving Society reminds parents to educate their children about the dangers of spring ice. People walking beside these water bodies should also beware of the ice hazards. Paths often develop ice from the runoff and can be dangerous.

With the beginning of spring, there is only one way for Albertans to ensure their safety around Alberta waterways: STAY OFF THE ICE. Assume that all ice on rivers, streams, ponds or lakes is unsafe.

Know the one you're with.

These are exciting times to be an Albertan. Our economy is strong and continues to grow. With that evolution, there is an unprecedented demand for telecommunications products and services. As a result, our pool of phone numbers with the 403 area code prefix is close to being depleted. On January 25, 1999, Northern Alberta's area code is changing from 403 to 780. Director named for Northern Lights Library System

ELK POINT — Northern Lights Library System board chair Iris English has announced the appointment of Linda MacCallum to the position of Director.

MacCallum has been public services librarian for the Northern Lights regional system since 1994, and acting director since June 1997.

In making the announcement, English said, "Linda's experience and energy will be a great asset to Northern Lights as we embark on our system completion plan." Northern Lights Library System recently received approval from Alberta Community Development to recruit new member libraries in an expanded region that now extends from Lloydminster to the City of Edmonton boundary, and from Highway 14 to the Northwest Territories border. A significant benefit of membership will be access by all member libraries to electronic resources and library collections on a regional and provincial scale through the Alberta Public Library Electronic Network (APLEN). Northern Lights plans to connect all member libraries to APLEN by December 2000.

"Albertans today expect and need their libraries to provide a full complement of technology and access to information. System membership can help libraries provide greater levels of service and access than they may be able to deliver alone," said English.

MacCallum completed a master's degree in library and information studies at the University of Alberta in 1993. She also holds bachelor's degrees in education and arts from Mount Saint Vincent University. Her experience includes work in school, post-secondary and special libraries.

Northern Lights Library System is a cooperative that helps member libraries save money and time through centralized buying, cataloguing, and sharing of resources. It also provides member libraries with training opportunities and the consulting services of professional librarians. The system is headquartered in Elk Point and is funded by member municipalities, local library boards, and Alberta Community Development.

Tax Tips

By Lisa Martin
H & R Block, St. Paul

The Net Income Stabilization Account (NISA) is a program designed to give you long-term income stability on your farm. The program allows you to deposit money into your NISA account annually and receive a matching contribution from the federal and provincial governments. The account receives a 3% bonus interest above competitive rates on your deposits. By allowing your account to build, the funds will be available to help you in lower income years.

Farmers who participate in the NISA program will have noticed some substantial changes for the 1997 year. Each NISA participant who held their fund 1 deposits in the Government's Consolidated Revenue Fund was required to transfer these funds to a financial institution of their choice by May 31, 1997. Most NISA participants transferred their funds into their local bank. If you did not transfer these funds to a financial institution, these deposits were transferred to the Farm Credit Corporation (FCC) to manage the accounts.

NISA has changes

In prior years the NISA account information is filed with the farm income statement and is sent to Revenue Canada. When you have your tax return prepared for you, the NISA information is completed at the same time and sent with your tax return.

Elementary School to celebrate their local education week

Elk Point Elementary School is celebrating education with a series of upcoming events which are part of their very own Local Education Week, April 6 to 9.

The week officially kicks off on Monday, April 6, with a Science Fair and an Open House Book Fair. The Open House and Book Fair begins at 7:00 p.m. so make sure to come out and see what's happening at Elk Point Elementary. Proceeds from the Book Fair go toward more materials for the school library, and this is a great time to stock up on reading material for spring and summer.

Wednesday, April 8 will feature the school's annual Fine Arts Night, when everyone is invited to come and view three plays: The Enchanted Shirt, The Talent Search and The Mrs. Savage. No admission will be charged. Students should be accompanied by an adult.

The week winds up Thursday, April 9 with the Grandparents' Tea. Students invite their grandparents, or another family member, to visit the school and enjoy a tour of the student's classroom as well as having tea with the other grandparents and students at this annual pre-Easter-break event.

Write On! Students invited to show off writing skills

The Alberta Weekly Newspapers Association is once again sponsoring three writing contests where students can show off their writing skills and win great prizes.

Students in grades 1 through 3 can enter the Creative Classifieds Contest, by selecting a classified ad from any issue of the Review and then using their imagination to create a story about it. Write no more than 200 words about that lost puppy, or the travels of that old car for sale. A copy of the original ad must accompany the entry.

Grades 4, 5 and 6 can become Junior Reporters. You can write about a sports event, a field trip, or any school related activity. You can tell how you felt or thought about a school related activity. Ask your school friends what they thought, talk to the team who won or didn't win their latest sport event.

Grades 7 through 12 are invited to express their views through our "Write an Opinion" Contest. Choose an issue which directly affects your community, and write a 100 to 300 word letter to the Editor on that subject.

All writing must be done in school, with the exception of home-school students. Teachers are asked to select the class winners and submit them to the Elk Point Review no later than Tuesday, April 21. A total of five local prize winners will be selected by the Elk Point Review, in the following categories:

Creative Classifieds — Grade 1, Grade 2 & 3; Junior Reporters — Grades 4 - 6; Write an Opinion — Grades 7 - 9, Grades 10 - 12. Local winners will receive gifts from the Elk Point Review and Stationery.

All local prize winners' entries will be submitted by the Review to the AWWNA for judging at the provincial level. Two provincial winners from the Creative Classifieds will receive $100 each, the winner from the Junior Reporter division will receive $300, and the two winners in the Write an Opinion contest will receive $500 each.

Decisions of the judges will be final. All entries become the property of AWWNA.

Curling club winds up season with fun events, league trophy presentation

Elk Point Curling Club wound up their 1997-98 curling season with an evening of fun-filled competition for a good number of members and guests Saturday night.

Each participant took three tries at each of four skills: a hit and stay, draw to the button, double takeout and draw through a port. Points were assessed depending on prowess, and prizes were awarded to the top competitors in each of three divisions: Juniors -- 1. Chris Gusnowski, 2. Josh Gadowski; Ladies: 1. Tammy Yakemchuk, 2. Vicki Brooker, 3. Shaina Gadowski; Men: 1. Leonard Gadowski, 2. Curtis Porcina, 3. Jeremy Wetsch.

League championship trophies were also presented during the evening.

Monique Penz skipped the Ladies' winners, with Karen Stafford, Donna Yaremkevich and Christine Penz making up the balance of her rink. They defeated season leaders Bernice Capjack-Hugo, Lois Sheplaw, Agnes Moroziuk and Jodi Vogel in the final.

The Mixed League championship went to Terry and Kathy Gusnowski, Marvin Melnyk and Shaina Gadowski, who also won over the league leaders, Robin and Tammy Yakemchuk, Carrie Becker and Lisa Kachuk to win the championship.

Leonard Gadowski skipped Tyson Ballas, Rick Rybchinsky and Lawrence Pidluzny to the Men's championship, over season leaders Richard Lavoie, John Yettaw, Cory Johnstone and Albert Boratynec.

Romance times seven — dinner theatre '98

Rocky Pilisko, Nick Weidl and Chad Keichinger) vow to protect their sweethearts from these rowdy ruffians — who are really very polite, until their urban counterparts get more than a little pushy.

It's a battered crew who head back up the mountain, where Milly dispenses beefsteak for black eyes along with her sympathy. She has no sympathy — in fact, nothing at all to say — to Adam, who tells his brothers "one girl's as good as the next." The boys repair to the barn where they moon about like lovesick bull calves until Adam suggests they "do like the Romans and just carry 'em off."

As Act II opens, the boys do just that, and push and pull their sleigh-load of girls through Echo Valley, closing it behind them with a well-timed avalanche. The preacher (Randall Kryz) consoles the townfolk with a prayerful hymn.

Milly thinks the boys have gone too far, and not only that, they haven't brought the preacher. However, she will keep the girls safely in the house for the winter, while the menfolk are sent back to the barn. Not Adam. There's no way he's going to be sent to the barn, so he goes even further — to his trapline shack high up the mountain.

Everyone gets through the winter, and Milly adds a daughter to the feminine component.

When spring comes, with baby chicks and posies, Gideon climbs the mountain to tell Big Brother about the blessed event, but Adam isn't coming back until he's good and ready. When he does return, he's bent on returning the girls to their families. Not a chance — the girls all run and hide in the forest.

The townfolk also feel the girls should return, and come up the mountain to get them. However, as they arrive, they hear a baby cry. Whose is it? Every girl says "Mine!"

There's only one solution for that — the biggest wedding of the century. Six brides for six brothers, and Milly and Adam, now reconciled, decide to renew their vows as well. Talk about a happy, happy, happy, happy, happy, happy ending!

The play also starred John and Mabel Gottenbos as Mr. and Mrs. Bixby, Cole May as Mr. Perkins, Vicki Lumley as Mrs. Perkins, Peggy Adomaitis, Kallie-Jo Coleman, Erin Pederson and Erin Walker as townsfolk. Barb Buryn provided the piano accompaniment, Dave Pilisko was stage and set designer, Rob Walker was responsible for lighting and sets, Debbie Lawrence for makeup and spotlight, Emily Mueller was the costume coordinator. Producer was Don Conrad, and the play was directed by Randall Kryz. Ellen Seward and Sheri Johnson assisted with hair and makeup, Terry Hebblethwaite, Jean Vickery and Peggy Adomaitis with set design and painting.

ADAM AND MILLY TIE THE KNOT -- as the townsfolk look on in trepidation.

I NOW PRONOUNCE YOU, AND YOU, AND YOU --The Reverend pronounces each of the seven happy couples man and wife.

Education annual meeting

the system between September 1996 and August 1997.

Champagne reported an improved cash flow, and decreased interest paid. He explained the division of funding into three main blocks for instruction, support services such as transportation, operation and maintenance, and system administration, and capital expenses.

Instruction block funding will receive a 4.4% increase in the 1998-99 school year, which Champagne says is "certainly welcome," although it only brings the amount back to levels prior to the 5% rollback in 1994-95. "The millions being put back into education don't go very far," he noted, due to predictions for decreased enrollments and increased expenses. "It may end up being a net increase of zero."

The Division's biggest deficit, in the area of special needs students, was questioned from the floor. Danyluk explained that the Division's philosophy has been to incorporate inclusion of these students into the educational mainstream. Brodziak added, "it is our mandate to have the most inclusive setting possible," and noted an upcoming increase to $11,200 from the present $8910 per special needs student will cut down the amount coming from the K-12 budget. "We're fortunate to have special addenda for those students who are medically fragile," she added. "We're trying to do the best we can."

Champagne said the Division is "always raising the subject [of special needs funding] with Alberta Education. They did an audit and were surprised at how well we are doing." The increased funding, he said, will cut the deficit by half.

Funding for special education of gifted students is covered by incentives at school levels, with no additional funding earmarked.

Concern was also expressed at the inclusion of locally raised funds in the budget, since these funds include everything from school rings to graduation banquets. The Province now requires these amounts to be included, unless that school has formed a society through which these funds are raised and spent.

Fort George not included

The pedway suggested in last week's Chamber of Commerce story would link only Buckingham House and the Elk Point Health Centre, and would not include the more distant Fort George Manor, according to Sid Holthe of the Interagency Health Committee. He added that it would be the Provincial Public Works who might be approached to provide this amenity. Our apologies for any concerns the story may have raised.

Hugging, playing & reading with your children makes health happen

Someday your children will be all grown up and on their own. Treasure the time you have with them, listen to what they have to say, read stories together, spend time playing with them. Making them feel safe, loved and important will help them grow up to be amazing adults.

BEGINNER AND ELEMENTARY CANSKATE BOYS are led through their paces by their coach, Jena Bassett.

Skating club presents afternoon gala

Elk Point Skating Club finished their 1997-98 season with a Skating Gala last Sunday afternoon. O Canada was sung by Alyssa Osinchuk, while Caitlin Duffee and Justyne Wozniak paraded the flags.

First on the program were the Beginner and Elementary Canskate boys, Harrison Maas, Jarek Lubinski, Jordyn Wozniak, Cameron Arnold, Lyndon Nelson and Brendan Bailey, with a group number which showed their progress for the year.

A "Canasta" CFSA dance by Diedra Nelson was followed by the Canfigure group, April Paley, Koral Stanley and Aaron Jurak, skating as a trio, and a solo by Kristyn Buksa. Beginner and Elementary Canskate girls, Nicole Arnold and Seanna Ewasiuk, skated a duet, as did Canskate Novice skaters Natalie Maas and Ian Jurak. Solos by Jessica Lee, Cassie Nelson and Aaron Jurak, along with CFSA dances by Helen Ramful and Daylan Hoffman, made up the balance of the first portion.

Skating Club President Monica Buksa welcomed everyone to the final day of skating for the season, and said she hoped everyone would be back again next fall. Junior coaches Jena Bassett and Julie Whiffen Peters, Canaskate and Canfigure assistant Christa Lypka and head coach Andrew Haggerty were presented with gifts. Dennell Anderson, who has earned her triple gold, was presented with a plaque by Mrs. Buksa.

A series of solos in the second half featured associate club member Kristen McLeod, Justyne Wozniak, associate member Trisha Shalka, Helen Ramful and Diedra Nelson. CFSA dances, accompanied in most cases by coach Andrew Haggerty, were performed by Krisytn Buksa, Jessica Lee, Cassie Nelson and five-year-old Caitlan Duffee. Jessica Lee and Kristyn Buksa performed a duet.

The afternoon wound up with an artistic solo, "The Cat Burglar," by Melissa Bergeron and a very polished solo by advanced skater Jennifer Amman. Daylan Hoffman finished up the solos with a fine display of talent. All skaters then came onto the ice for a grand finale.

Three of Elk Point's skaters have brought home medals from competitions this year.

Daylan Hoffman, who is coached by Sandra Lindenback and Andrew Haggerty, completed her first year of Competitive "A" competition, where she advanced through the north east regionals to the 1998 Bank of Montreal Sectional Championships. At the Indus Ice Extravaganza near Calgary, she won gold in Juvenile Freeskate and bronze in Juvenile Elements. At the Sask Tel Jean Norman Competition in Saskatoon, she won silver in Junior Bronze Freeskate and bronze in the Junior Short Program. At the Vermilion Open Competition, she won a gold in Junior Bronze Elements and a silver in Junior Bronze Freeskate. At the Drayton Valley Invitational Competition, she won Gold in Juvenile Freeskate, Bronze in Junior Bronze Freeskate and fourth in Juvenile Elements.

Cassandra Nelson, coached by Cindy Schultz, won bronze in the Pre-Preliminary Ladies Freeskate at the Marwayne Closed Competition.

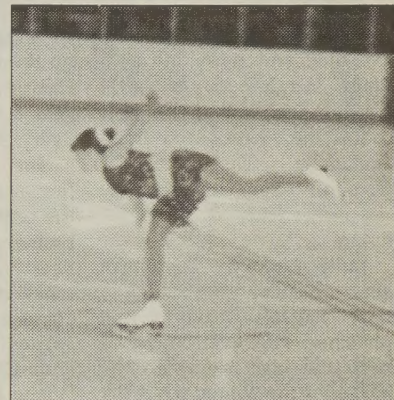

Aaron Jurak, coached by Christa Lypka, brought home bronze in the Pre-Preliminary Men's Freeskate from the Marwayne Closed Competition and silver in the Pre-Preliminary Men's Freeskate from the Vermilion Open Competition.

MULTIPLE MEDAL WINNER Daylan Hoffman entertained with a solo which portrayed her impressive talents.

CASANDRA NELSON performs a graceful solo.

TRIPLE GOLD SKATER Dennell Anderson is presented with a plaque by Skating Club President Monica Buksa.

Minor Hockey news

Leaving on the Greyhound

By Doug Bassett
Elk Point Minor Hockey

Tomorrow is April Fool's Day, but this is no joke. The hockey season is coming to an end. Last night, the boys pulled the plug on the ice plant down at the Dome. What will we do next weekend? What's that you say? There's hockey in Calgary next weekend? The Greyhound is leaving on Thursday morning, so be there, or be square. Who could pass up an offer like that? Hey, it's not over just yet!

The Bantam Lightning will board the bus on Thursday morning for the annual Value Drug Mart Tournament where they will compete against 32 teams from across the province.

So, what happened this past weekend... well, let me see!

Avalanche second in "A"

The Atom Avalanche won second place in the "A" side in Two Hills, playing against Sherwood Park, Vegreville, Legal and Smoky Lake in the final. Coach Dave Cousins commented that "Kurt Kozicky was the best goalie at the tournament!" He also said it was "a good weekend for all the boys, they passed the puck very well, just about everyone got a goal."

Storm season ends

The Midget Girls Storm finished their season this past weekend when they travelled to Hardisty for the final playoff tournament. Playing against Lashburn in the first game, the girls lost a close one 6 to 4. Goals by Kandice Bjornstad, Chandra Jackson, Sheena Flamond and Jena Bassett. Two assists for stay-at-home defencewoman Megan Tucker. In the second game they met up with a tough goalie from Castor and the Storm outshot them 42 to 27. Even though they had quality shots, they couldn't put any past her and lost another tough game 2 to 0, ending the Storm's season. It would be the last minor hockey game for Charise Kinneberg, who is not only a good hockey player, but is very competitive in archery, winning several provincial medals for her age category, and who will likely be going to school at the police academy next year. It's been great to have a girl like Charise in our hockey system and her father Darrel on the bench. Good luck to Charise in her future endeavors.

Cyclones win silver

The PeeWee Girls Cyclones hosted a one day mini tournament this past Saturday at the Dome against Athabasca and Macklin, winning the silver medal in the final game against Macklin. Scoring her first goal ever was Ashley Hebblethwaite. A hat trick each for Kali Cousins and Kristin Ballas. Also scoring her first two goals, Brett Hahn. Brett's father, George, coaches the Cyclones and is not only proud of Brett, but also his son Ryan.

Hahn makes Chrysler Cup team

Ryan Hahn, who has been going to school in Wilcox, Sk, and playing hockey for the Notre Dame Hounds, was the first player ever selected from Elk Point to make it on this elite team of first year bantam players in the Chrysler Cup. Notre Dame is the same school that Cu Jo attended, along with many other players now in the NHL, including one of my favorites, Wendell Clark. The Chrysler Cup Zone 2 tryouts were held last weekend in Vegreville. Ryan was one of the two goalies selected from 28 who competed in the tryout camp.. The Chrysler Cup was formerly called the Mac's Cup, and is made up of the best first year bantams in the province, competing in a tournament on the weekend of April 21 down in Lethbridge. Many of the players competing in this elite tournament have been drafted by the Western Hockey League. Way to go, Ryan!

Pankiw named MVP

Ok, since we're on the subject of bragging, let's not stop now. My dad's bigger than your dad. This past week at the annual awards night down in Marwayne, tow Elk Point boys won awards in the midget category. Brad Pankiw won the Most Valuable Player award. A very fitting award for the seasoned veteran Brad, who was playing in his last year of minor hockey. Brad was named captain of the team this season and played like one, always motivating the team. During provincials, Brad injured his thumb in the first game, went to the hospital and had a cast put on, and continued to play the final four games with a cast, helping the boys bring home the silver medal. Now that's leadership.

Bassett award winner

And now I will toot my own horn. My own son, Jordan Bassett, won the Blair Parker Memorial trophy, awarded to the most aggressive player, that also has the most dedication to his team on and off the ice. Jordan, who was often banged up, never missed a game all season, and has always been a grinder and a mucker who will challenge any player for the puck. Unless he is drafted by the Leafs, he should be back next season, playing in the Dome. I think it's about time Elk Point Minor Hockey started having awards night again. The last time I remember it was when Jordan was playing novice.

Hockey history

What's the first thing that you notice when you walk into the lobby of the Hardisty arena? Take a look the next time you're in there. There's a big picture on the wall of the old Hardisty Stampeders, the senior team, and in the middle of the picture is a dark haired guy with a full beard dressed in goalie equipment. It's none other than our very own Ron Croteau. When you talk to the local people down there, they still remember Ronnie as the best goalie that the senior team ever had, and lucky for us, he now plays goal for the B & R Bullets. The beard is gone and the hair is silver, but most nights he still looks like he could play for the senior team. Ron hates to lose and he hates playing for fun. Ron once told me that he hated practice when he was in midget and he still hates it today. I think it's good to have that history on the walls of the arena. Does anyone have some old pictures of the Bucs or the Elks that could be donated? Give me a call.

NATURES WAY OF CURING AND PREVENTING DISEASES ACCORDING TO THE INDIANS

Dedicated to my grandmother who used this book second to the bible in raising her twelve children. This book contains a wealth of knowledge in the field of curing and healing pretty much any health situation naturally instead of synthetically. This book has remedies for things like cancer, bad vision, cholera, ulcers, tumors, gout, weak bowels, stiff joints and so much more that you will just have to see the book. I would like to share this knowledge with the world, that is why I am going to give out a free suncatcher made out of beautiful stained glass; these suncatchers sell for $14.95 or more out in the market place. So if you buy the book for $11.95 + $1.10 for S+H that would be like getting the book for free. If you are not 100% satisfied just send it back for a full refund. I hope that everyone enjoys this book and finds it as helpful a tool as we have. Thank you for taking the time to read this. Live long be healthy, be happy, obtain this important knowledge. What's news at the library?

It's Easter at the Elk Point Public Library!

By Michele Ducek
Librarian

It's Easter at the library. On Friday, April 3, we will be having a party to celebrate the holiday. There will be an Easter egg hunt, the possibility of decorating Easter eggs and perhaps a visit from a long-eared furry friend. Any parent who would like to help with refreshments can give Michele a call at the library. The library will be closed on Good Friday, April 10, but will be open on April 11.

The bingo schedule for the upcoming year has just come out and once again, the Friends of the Library have gotten five bingos, all evenings and only one on a holiday weekend. (who did they have to bribe to get so lucky?). The first bingo is on the May long weekend so sign up at the library and become a Friend.

New in adult fiction:

Lawrence Sanders traces the often seamy history of the South Florida Forsby clan from the seventies to the nineties in Guilty Pleasures.

Beyond the Picket Fence by Lori Wick is a collection of stories featuring the author's insight into the characters or background after each story.

Hours after making love for the first time, a young woman lapses into a coma that will last for eighteen years. When she awakens, strange apocalyptic events occur and she and her friends must attempt to restore their own humanity amid the world's rubble in Girlfriend in a Coma by Douglas Coupland.

A young woman sets out to find a suitable wife for her widowed father and the results are somewhat surprising in The Matchmakers by Janette Oke.

New in juvenile fiction:

A troublesome horse takes up all the Club's time and Stevie and her brothers are trying to be on their best behavior while their grandmother visits in Horse Guest from the Saddle Club.

When Karen's mother and stepfather make plans to move away for a while, Karen promises her little brother that the two of them will stay together no matter what in Karen's Promise from Baby-Sitters Little Sister.

Jessica and Elizabeth make a New Year's resolution to stop arguing or disagreeing and try to stick to it when a cute boy moves to town in If Looks Could Kill from Sweet Valley Twins.

Amber's mom is engaged, her father is back in the country, and the two of them fight every time they talk on the phone. Amber is getting angry at both of them in Amber Brown Sees Red by Paula Danziger.

Jessica is interested in the new boy in town and it looks like her only competition is her sister Elizabeth in What Jessica Wants from Sweet Valley High.

From Your Wife & Daughters

Thank You

LINKEWICH

The family of Stella Linkewich would like to express their appreciation and gratitude to those who were so supportive to us in our time of grief. Thank you to everyone who sent food, flowers, cards and donations.

Special thanks to Dr. Koe and Dr. Ramful, to the nurses of the Elk Point Hospital and the Elk Point Parkview Extended Care for all your love and care.

A very special thank you to Rev. Sam Donaldson for being there for us this last year and for his comforting words, prayers and the funeral.

Our heartfelt appreciation to John and Caroline Yewchin and their staff for their compassion and help in our time of sorrow.

We also thank the Ladies of the Ukrainian Cultural Centre for the lovely meal. Your kindness will always be remembered.

Sales and Marketing Representative

Lloydminster Area

NEWALTA CORPORATION is an industry leader in the recovery of resaleable products from waste materials and in the treatment and disposal of waste residues. Through its network of 30 facilities throughout western Canada, the Company services two distinct market segments: waste generated from crude oil production, and waste lubricating oils and related waste materials from automotive and industrial generators.

Newalta's expansion into the heavy oil corridor with new oilfield waste management facilities in Elk Point and Kitscoty has created an exciting career opportunity for a Sales and Marketing professional to take responsibility for delivering market and competitive analysis and customer development strategies. Ensuring Newalta's brand is presented to all customers and the identification and communication of business opportunities are critical for this position.

The successful candidate will have:

- demonstrated superior communication skills, written and oral
- the ability to interact in the marketplace with a cross-section of contacts including senior management
- applied business skills
- five years relevant sales or business experience
- a strong educational background that may include marketing or business administration

Candidates interested in this challenging opportunity should forward their résumé in confidence by April 10, 1998 to:

NEWALTA CORPORATION

Ken Quaife - Regional Sales Manager
2830 Bremner Avenue, Red Deer, Alberta T4R 1M9

We would like to thank all applicants for their interest but only those selected for an interview will be contacted.
